

Keku Islands

These limestone cliffs have seen it all,

From volcanos

to the coming of the ice.

They watched the building of clan houses and cedar canoes pulled up on the shore.

Now the glass kayaks

and the People of the Ipod.

All that made a lasting mark were tiny fossil clams from an ancient sea.

Still, they keep watch.